Section 11 of the guide: Tax on a Dubai property: what owners need to report and pay back home

Israeli tax residents: How to report rental income from abroad

Written by Usama Haj Yahia, founder of U810 Properties | Last updated: 19.11.2026

For Israeli residents with non-business income from abroad, such as renting out an apartment, the Israel Tax Authority offers a short reporting track. This is Form 5329, "Details on income and assets abroad". You submit it at the Tax Authority office for your place of residence, and pay at the post office or at the assessing office. If you file a full annual return (Form 1301), you report there, and the form has a separate line for rental income from abroad on the 15% track.
