Section 5 of the guide: Inheriting property in Dubai: wills, heirs, and what to arrange when you buy

A will in Dubai and a will in your country of residence: the two need to fit together

Written by Usama Haj Yahia, founder of U810 Properties | Last updated: 18.11.2026

If you have a will in your country of residence, the will in Dubai should not contradict it. The DIFC Wills Service Centre itself warns that a will made in another country may affect the will registered with it, and recommends getting legal advice. So it is worth having a lawyer in your country of residence and a lawyer in the UAE look at both wills, to make sure each will covers its own assets and that neither one cancels the other by mistake.

The full guide on the site: u810properties.com/en-guide-inheritance

Do you have a question about inheriting property in Dubai?

If you want to arrange a will, I connect you with a lawyer.

Send a WhatsApp message →

The information is general and correct as of the update date. It is not legal advice or tax advice. For a will and inheritance planning you need a lawyer licensed in the UAE, and a lawyer in your country of residence.